Using Zoom for the first time

The first time you open Zoom you will have to accept and allow a few things before you can join a meeting.

The first thing Zoom will ask you to do is agree to the Terms of Service and Privacy Policy. You can't use Zoom without agreeing to this, so just tap I Agree.

Tapping the underlined words will let you read the full documents if you want to, but hardly anyone does.

To use Zoom, you need to agree to the Terms of Service and Privacy Policy.

I Agree   I Disagree

In order for other people in a Zoom meeting to hear and see you, Zoom has to ask for your permission to access your devices camera and microphone. It does this with two little pop up messages like these examples.

Tap OK on both the messages. You will only have to do this once.

"Zoom" Would Like to Access the Camera

For people to see you during meetings, Zoom needs access to your camera.

Don't Allow   OK

"Zoom" Would Like to Access the Microphone

For people to hear you during meetings, Zoom needs access to your microphone.

Don't Allow   OK

Lastly but just as importantly, when you join a meeting you will be asked to join audio.

If you didn't know, people can join in Zoom meetings using a phone call, and in the setting up stages, you need to tell the app that you'll be using the internet to send your voice. So, choose the 'Call using Internet Audio' option.

To hear others please join audio
